Minor hockey celebrates season end

By Vicki Brooker and Doug Bassett
Review Staff

Elk Point's 2011-2012 minor hockey season officially drew to a close on Friday night with one of the biggest windup banquets in recent history, where players, volunteers and parents were all praised for their part in making this a memorable and progressive winter of hockey.

To start off the program, Elk Point Minor Hockey president Jackie Ludlage led a standing ovation for the players, from Micro Novice to Pee wee, honouring their skills and good sportsmanship.

Ludlage then called EPMH treasurer Margaret Bayduza, referees-in-chief Lisa Warawa and Twila Stafford, registrar Lisa Van Maarion, bingo coordinator and banquet organizer Melinda Henderson, secretary Lori Poitras, booth coordinator Maria Cueva, fundraising coordinator Val Poulin, vice-president Sandi Capjack and "Mr. Hockey," Doug Bassett, to the stage to accept commemorative t-shirts in appreciation for their efforts.

A round of applause went out to coaches, managers and the many volunteers who helped last fall to prepare the arena for the season.

Then it was time to introduce each team on the Elk Point roster. Pee wee Avalanche coach Dwayne Odgaard introduced manager Christine Graus, assistant coaches Rodney Graus, Megan Tucker and, not in attendance, Kevin McGillivray, and commented on the year. "We had 17 kids, and only four of them were returning pee wees. It's a team game, if you want to have success, and we came a long way," Odgaard said the team "went as far as Wabasca and Macklin, SK to play, and I have to say, some of these multimillion-dollar buildings don't have the ambience that our A. G. Ross Arena has, with Mr. Hockey calling out the players' names, and the music blaring. This town is the best place to play hockey."

Alex Kurash Memorial winner

Warren Ference was the proud recipient of the Alex Kurash Memorial Trophy, presented by Doug Bassett at Friday's Elk Point Minor Hockey windup. The trophy is presented annually to the most improved pee wee hockey player, judged by criteria that include coachability, positive attitude and a desire to learn.

Albertans heading to the polls on April 23

By Staff Writers

Premier Alison Redford has called an election for April 23 and local leaders are predicting it will be one of the most interesting elections Albertans have seen in a long time.

Last week, incumbent candidate for the Progressive Conservatives, Ray Danyluk, spoke on the looming election.

"I just want to say I'm ready," said Danyluk. He was optimistic that an election would be called in the near future. According to provincial law, the Election Amendment Act, an election has to take place between March 1 and May 31 this year.

Danyluk says he strives to be a representative of communities and the Lac La Biche-St. Paul - Two Hills constituency. "I'm not going to stop doing that." He feels the constituency has been going in a very good direction, with much work being done in education, infrastructure, on local highways, and for health care.

Local Liberal candidate John Nowak, whose party announced its platform last month, said the delay in announcing a date for the election has hurt the PC's campaign.

"I'm glad they finally realized that the longer they put it off the worse they're starting to look," Nowak said. "All of the Liberal candidates have been door knocking and spending time with stakeholders throughout Alberta."

"We don't have the dollars the PCs or the Wildrose have for large scale phone, radio or TV advertisements, so we're going to have to just outwork everybody when it comes to meeting people and speaking about our policies," he added.

"Over the past year, we've been working hard trying to meet as many voters as possible," said Wildrose candidate Shayne Saskiw. Saskiw said voter turnout will be key this election, adding many people stayed home in 2008 because there was no credible alternative to the PCs.

This election, "It's going to be a stark contrast between a PC government that's no longer listening to Albertans versus a Wildrose government, which believes in decentralization of health services, lower power bills, restoring property rights and fixing our health care system."

Myron J. Goyan, Development Officer

Introducing Elk Point's Economic Development Committee

E.D.C Highlights

Some of you may already be aware of who we are, and what we do, but for those of you that haven't heard about us yet we offer you the following information:

The Economic development committee is made up of eleven members of the community at large, one member from Town Council, one member from the County of St. Paul Council, and one member from Alberta Hub (resource person). We are passionate about our community and want to see it grow and prosper, and we are sure you all feel the same.

Our mandate is to promote and stimulate economic growth in the Town of Elk Point and surrounding area by exploring short and long term development strategies, promoting retention and development of infrastructure, supporting the retention and expansion of existing businesses, encouraging new business and industry, gaining broad community and regional support through communication, accountability and responsibility and assisting the Economic Development Officer, Mayor and Council with researched, meaningful ideas, input and recommendations.

Currently we meet once a month to discuss and recommend to Council (for their consideration) various strategies that we feel will help our community better position itself to capture some of the growth that is expected for our region. In addition to this once a month meeting, our members are in constant contact via email so that when we do meet, we aren't wasting time bringing everyone up to speed with what is going on.

Our goal is to make sure the world knows that Elk Point is 'Open for Business' and that our community is a great place for you to put your investment dollars in. Not only is Elk Point a great place to invest in, it is a great place to live in, work in, and raise a family in. Remember, it's up to all of us, to tell the world why Elk Point is "The Right Place To Be".

SHARE YOUR IDEAS

We intend to run a regular column in this space in our paper to keep everyone informed with what is going on in our community, what we are working on, what recommendations we have made to council, and what recommendations are going to be implemented. If anyone has any questions, comments, concerns, or suggestions, we would love to hear from you. Our members would love to speak to you in person, or you may send us an email at EDC@elkpoint.ca, and one of our members will get back to you shortly. We look forward to your feedback!

Sincerely,
The Elk Point Economic Development Committee

Elk Point's history display at the library tomorrow

By REVIEW STAFF

Elk Point Historical Society may be small in membership, but is making big plans for the future, as the members co-host a history display and open house and prepare for the upcoming launch of a totally rebuilt website that will put the community's history at the world's fingertips.

"We're focusing on the renewal of Elk Point's history," says Marvin Bjornstad, who has spent much of the winter working on the rebuild. "People know so much about the past, but it's sometimes hard to get it collected and down on paper."

One of the area's most fervent collectors of history will have a wealth of information on display at the Elk Point Municipal Library tomorrow, as Ray Hellquist brings his comprehensive collection of information on the area's early schools to town. Bjornstad will bring along books produced by the historical society over the years, along with historic photos and maps, and will even pull open the Historical Society's file cabinet and see what forgotten treasures are hidden inside.

Open house visitors may also be able to help the society to solve a mystery, or at least to provide information for a Washington State resident whose grandfather, Ray Howard, came to Alberta from Iowa prior to 1911 with his brother, Lark Howard, and homesteaded in the Caskeyville area. The letter states that the brothers played baseball in Elk Point, a fact that is substantiated in Reflections. A genealogy sheet for Ray Howard, included in the letter, shows that he and his wife had three children while they lived in this area, and his obituary states that his family left Alberta in 1928. His granddaughter would like to know more about the Howards' life in the early days of Elk Point. The letter and accompanying information will be on display at the open house.

The Elk Point and County History open house goes from 1 to 7 p.m. on Wednesday and is well worth a visit.

The new website will have a number of features, one of which is the ability to add to the family histories that were printed in the 1977 Reflections and the 1978 Supplement to Reflections, and to add histories of families and businesses that were not in those books.

"History didn't stop happening when those books were published," society president Vicki Brooker says. "New families have come here, new businesses were started, and we have another 35 years of history that we can add."

Families and businesses will be able to submit their information and pictures once the website is up and running, Bjornstad said.

The society is also looking at adding histories other communities in the area, such as Heinsburg, Lindbergh and Ferguson Flats, to the website, hopefully by receiving permission to add the information from history books some of those communities have already completed, and by finding individuals or groups interested in compiling histories of the others.

Bjornstad is adding a blog post site to the website, in hopes of increasing communication between the society and the communities.

The society hopes to launch the website at their May 9 annual meeting at Elk Point Library, and all those with an interest in local history and its preservation are welcome to attend.

- It's revealing to put a number on the heart benefits of exercising. There was a "study of studies" done recently on the amount of exercise needed to benefit the heart. That number is 150 minutes per week. This resulted in a 15% reduction in heart attacks. Couch potatoes who started to exercise benefitted most. It's important to check with your doctor before starting an exercise program.
- Breastfeeding a newborn infant has many positive effects on the baby and the mother. One new idea being investigated is that breastfed babies have less of a chance of becoming obese. The link between obesity and breastfeeding isn't totally proven but it may be another incentive to breastfeed for at least 6 months.
- Nine out of ten foot operations are performed on women. The cause of the foot problems is primarily the type of shoes women wear. These foot problems include bunions, hammertoes and neuromas (swelling of a foot nerve due to tight-fitting shoes). Sometimes, just changing to a roomier shoe will relieve the discomfort. It may be hard to choose between comfort and style but your feet will be happy.
- Our kidneys are marvellous. They filter all the blood in our bodies (7-8 litres) about 20-25 times each day. That's 180 litres each day. Besides removing waste products from our body, they provide materials that regulate blood pressure, stimulate red blood cell production and help maintain good bone health.
- Looking for a new pharmacy? Come and see us. We are a great alternative.

Stay positive

With a provincial election now ahead of us, we would like to make a suggestion to candidates of all parties: keep your message positive.

Running down other candidates and other parties does not make friends and influence people anywhere near as much as giving a positive message regarding one's own party's ideals and ambitions. Candidates that blow their own horns will make more of a positive impact than those who seek to drown out other candidates' messages.

Tell us what you can do for us, not what the others can't or won't do and keep your message clear, without dissention muddying the waters.

We who hear you are the ones to decide how to vote.

Water rates, heritage tourism, food for thought

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND THE ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF MARCH 27 IN...

1987

Flint Engineering, skipped by Clarence Romanick, swept home to victory over Tim Holliday's Schlumberger Canada rink to win the 44-rink Fourth Annual Oilmen's Bonspiel, Dave's Pressure Service defeating BMW Monarch in the second, CEDA Reactor over Petrotech Electric in the third and HiWest Well Servicing over Superior Propane in the fourth, with the DrakeWell rink the first team out. Town council debated water rates in the wake of increased operating costs, with first reading passed on a bylaw decreasing minimum gallonage from 4,000 to 3,000 gallons and increasing minimum cost from $22 to $25 per month.

1992

Billie Milholland's fascination with the history of the Elk Point area earned her the first TIALTA Heritage Tourism Award to eve come to northeast Alberta, presented at the Alberta Conference on Tourism, which she attended with Adele Mandryk and Susan Yakemchuk. Elk Point Midget Thunder won the Zone 2 championship by a single goal and were all set to host the Midget C Provincials tournament.

1997

Elk Point Thunder watched their archrivals, the Kitscoty Pitbulls, go down to a 5-3 defeat at the hands of Eckville Eagles in the championship final game of Midget Provincials at the A. G. Ross Arena. Elk Point 4-Her Robyn Danyluk placed first at the senior level of district speak-off competition, while Kyle Kurek placed second in the junior division.

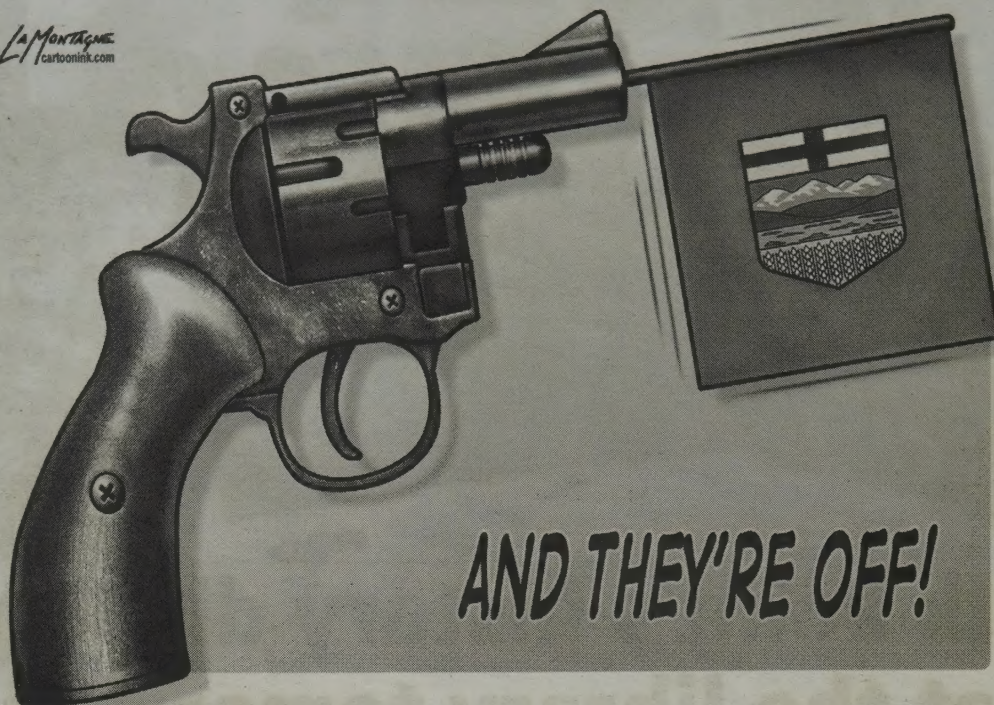

2002

Food for thought was on the table at the first dinner meeting of the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce, where Nigel, Kandus and Sharon LaFrance brought forth a number of suggestions for town revitalization, with a committee subsequently struck to further explore the ideas. Elk Point Midget Storm hosted an outstanding Midget Female B Provincials tournament, with the CNN Spurs taking home the gold.

2007

Cartoon heroes took to the ice as part of the annual Elk Point Skating Club showcase, with 17 skaters displaying their skills on St. Patrick's Day. Fire Chief Ken Palamarek was honoured with a presentation by Assistant Fire Commissioner Ernie Polsom in recognition of 36 years with the volunteer fire department.

GUEST COLUMN

Holy Week customs

This coming Sunday is Palm Sunday and it is the first day of Holy Week. Palm Sunday commemorates the triumphal entry of Jesus into Jerusalem to celebrate the Passover. The gospels record the arrival of Jesus riding into the city on a donkey, while the crowds spread their cloaks and palm branches on the street and shouted "Hosanna to the Son of David" and "Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord" to honor him as their long-awaited Messiah and King.

The significance of Jesus riding a donkey and having his way paved with palm branches is a fulfillment of prophecy spoken by the prophet Zechariah (Zechariah 9:9). In biblical times, the regional custom called for kings and nobles arriving in procession to ride on the back of a donkey. The donkey was a symbol of peace; those who rode upon them proclaimed peaceful intentions. The laying of palm branches indicated that the king or dignitary was arriving in victory or triumph.

There are other traditions associated with Palm Sunday. In some parts of England it used to be called Fig Sunday because people ate fig pies or puddings on that day. In Wales it is called Sul y Blodau, Flowering Sunday. Families traditionally visit the graves of their relatives to lay flowers on the graves. On this day they also have famous Welsh singing contests, which are known as Gymnasa Ganu. Choirs from various chapels in the area come together to take part in these festivals. In Europe, Palm Sunday is called Willow, Yew, or Blossom Sunday. In England and Russia, people would tap each other on the shoulders with a branch of the pussy willow for good luck. In Greece people like to eat fish on Palm Sunday. In some German towns people decorate poles with streamers and from the FCSS desk

branches of pussy willow. Christians in Lebanon like to wear new clothes on Palm Sunday - if they cannot afford this at least a new pair of shoes. In Italy it is regarded as a day or making up quarrels. In the Netherlands, on Palm Sunday children go in processions from farm to farm collecting eggs for the Easter sports. To find the eggs they carry a curiously decorated stick known as a Palmpaas or Easter "palm". This stick is attached to a hoop which is covered with boxwood and adorned with colored paper flags, egg shells, sugar rings, oranges, raisins, figs, chocolate eggs, small cakes and baked dough figures or swans or cocks.

Thus with people coming all different countries and different cultures, it is logical to expect Palm Sunday to be remembered and celebrated in each one's unique way. I was curious about the fig pie tradition that is traditional eaten in Wales on Palm Sunday. I therefore went looking for a recipe. The following Fig Pie recipe is from Cooks.com.

2 eggs, well beaten
2 tbsp. sugar
¼ tsp. salt
¾ lb. fried figs, stewed *May use fresh figs if pre-cooked in a small amount of water. Use 2 cups.
1 baked pastry shell
Combine eggs, sugar, salt and figs; cook slowly until egg thickens. Turn into pastry shell.
MERINGUE:
3 egg whites
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. lemon juice
6 tbsp. sugar
Beat egg whites until foamy. Add remaining ingredients; beat until stiff. Spread on pie. Bake at 350 degrees until brown.

So however you chose to begin your Holy Week remembrance, and if you chose to try the fig pie, a tradition from Wales, may all that you do help you to remember the significance of this special day of Palm Sunday this coming Sunday, April 1, 2012.

He added that, "Hockey moms are the lifeblood of the hockey family," and gave special thanks to his wife for her support throughout the season.

Micro Novice coach Robyn Moroziuk was unable to be present, so Travis Hymanyk, who assisted Moroziuk along with Jacob Theriault and Shane Fontaine, introduced managers Margaret Bayduza and Sandi Capjack and their energetic squad of players, and led a round of applause for the Micro Novice parents.

Greg VanMaarion coaches the Novice Avalanche along with Kevin Hardcastle, and introduced assistants Tim Poulin and Dean Rogal and manager Melissa Rogal, as well as their team, which ended up third in their league. The Novice are the only team still taking to the ice, with practices scheduled this week before one final tournament in Edmonton this coming weekend.

Atom 2 coach Jay Duffee was assisted by James Pinder and Rob Tchir and manager Angie Pinder this season, and said that while the team had "lots of first year players, we toughed it out. There were lots of smiles in the dressing room, and we had an excellent group." The girls on the team, he noted, "Were the more aggressive players," and a force to be reckoned with.

Atom 1 Avalanche "started in A and ended up in B," said spokesman 'Woody' Woodman, who assisted coach Darcy Pankiw along with Dave Nazarchuk and Rick Rybchinsky and manager Christine McFarlane. He noted that, "a lot of our players started out not knowing what to do, but the team developed nicely and got turned around. We played some of our best hockey in the playoffs."

Woodman thanked arena caretaker Scott Dallaire "for all his hard work at the rink," and Doug Bassett for his ongoing support of minor hockey through his weekly news reports.

Bassett had the honour of carrying out what has become a longstanding tradition for EPMH. "Every year that we have a peewee team, a player from that team is chosen to receive the Alex Kurash Memorial trophy." Kurash was a peewee coach who passed away and who is remembered with the annual award which honours some of the attributes he valued in a player, such as actively promoting the sport, positive attitude, continued improvement in skills, the desire to learn and coachability. In addition, the award must go to a player who does not receive any other award that year. Past winners of this award, labeled, "Most Improved

"This year's recipient," Bassett was proud to announce, "is Warren Ference."

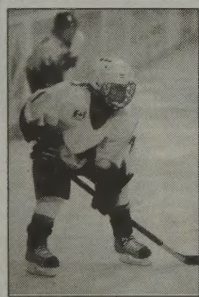

Further notes from the Sportsound

Happy birthday going out today to novice assistant coach Greg Van Maarion who has a big weekend coming up this weekend, when the Novice Avalanche will be competing in a tournament in Edmonton.

And on Sunday at the A.G. Ross Arena from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., you can register for ball. Also on Sunday for all you ball coaches out there, it is the first meeting of the year for the Lakeland Minor Ball Association where you can have a say in how things in the league operate as far as rules and any other positive changes we could make to help things run smoother. The meeting will be held at the A.G. Ross arena at 1pm.

And now for the K.A. Campbell quote of the week:

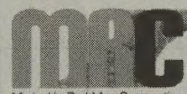

"Developing better people should be the number one goal for any coach when dealing with kids. In trying to develop better people, we are going to develop more and better pros." Last week's answer to: "There's no such thing as lack of confidence. You either have it or you don't." - Rugby player Rob Andrew. Have a sports scoop? "Co-op – Moving Ahead by Giving Back"

School transportation boundary stays the same, small response to survey

By JANICE HUSER
Review Contributor

Director of transportation and facilities, Doug Fedoruk, with St. Paul Education Regional Division (SPERD), attended a portion of the school board meeting on March 14 to discuss a transportation boundaries survey that was sent to a group of residents.

The survey was sent to 29 residents in an area between Elk Point and St. Paul. Fifteen of those surveys were returned to the division. But only seven surveys were from parents with school-aged children, explained Fedoruk.

Four of those surveys requested bus transportation to St. Paul instead of Elk Point, but one of those students was already in Grade 12, leaving three families interested in sending children to St. Paul in the future. One of those remaining families only wanted the change if it resulted in a shorter ride times on the bus, said Fedoruk.

The three other families wanted bus routes to remain the same and keep children in Elk Point schools.

There is "not sufficient support to change the designation," said assistant superintendent Delane Imeson, after hearing the results of the survey, adding cross area requests would be considered.

Board chair Maureen Miller explained this area has come up in the past and the board chose to review the area based not only on requests from this year, but also on requests from previous years.

Trustee Darrell Youngmans made a motion to deny the request for a transportation boundary change, which carried. The division recommends parents look into where the transportation boundaries fall before moving or building a new homes in the area.

Projects

SPERD's next list of priorities, according to the capital plan approved last week, includes work on schools in Ashmont, which was on last year's list, Two Hills, New Myrnam and Heinsburg.

Current projects, including the Racette Junior High modernization, F. G. Miller renovations, and the construction of Two Hills Mennonite School, are moving along. Demolition is progressing at Racette and the warm weather will help move the project forward. The F. G. Miller work is going to tender and a schematic design is being done for Two Hills Mennonite.

The board approved a list of proposed plans for Infrastructure Maintenance and Renewal (IMR) funding, which is used to fix up schools. The funding is used for items such as roof repair, flooring replacement and painting.

"Unfortunately, the list is long," said secretary-treasurer Jean Champagne of the items on the IMR list.

Community consultation

As a way to improve its schools and communities, SPERD is hosting a community consultation evening, tentatively booked for May 31.

Part of the community consultation is the creation of a video that will cost approximately $12,000. Schools are taking video footage of different events and a company has been hired to edit the footage and make the video.

The purpose of the community consultation session is to facilitate two-way communication between schools and communities to identify and discuss community and school concerns and benefits related to education, and to work together to guide our students to be well-mannered, caring and active members of our communities, says Miller, via email with the Journal.

Along with the video, a budget of $200 has been set aside for invitations to the community consultation event, and $450 for food.

Education Day

April 4 has been chosen as Education Day in Alberta. School boards are being encouraged to use the day to discuss education issues with local candidates because of the impending election.

After discussing the upcoming date with Alberta Teachers' Association representative Carmen Glossop, who was in attendance at the board's meeting, it was decided that an attempt would be made to gather all the local candidates and hold an evening event on or around that day.

It will be good to know what our candidates are thinking, going into an election, said Miller.

Briefs

Racette Junior High School teacher Shirley Pruden was chosen for this year's Excellence in Catholic Education award, which is awarded annually by all Alberta Catholic school jurisdictions.

A communication showcase will be held at Two Hills School on April 12 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., and will involve students from across the division.

Summer Performance Fuel. All year round.

Diesel fuel formulations to meet your needs.

Changes over the past few years in the refining process of diesel means that a similar density fuel is now available all year round.

This is good news, as you'll no longer have to worry about high fuel consumption when low cloud point winter diesel is used in spring and summer.

'My Old Friends' an oldie but goodie

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

'My Old Friends,' the 2012 dinner theatre production of the Elk Point Choral Society and Friends, is a play with a long history. In 1985, the New York Times called the then-six-year-old show "A sparkling little musical... charming entertainment about the geriatric set," and commented on the performances of leading ladies Maxine Sullivan, a jazz vocalist who dated back to the mid-1930s, and comedienne Imogene Coca.

It's hard to believe that those long-ago veterans of stage and screen could have played their roles any better than their local counterparts, Velma Hudson and Dixie Coleman, who have their roles as nonstop-writer of complaining letters, (Hudson) and the lovely but troubled Helene Michaud (Coleman). They share the stage with Caroline Vandriel as Mrs. Polianoffsky, a lady who sticks close to her television, John Sieben as Mickey Catlan, a chain-smoking, wisecracker with a warped fashion sense, Shaun Sheplaw as the flamboyant Chilean mambo dancer Arias, Lawrence Pidluzny as friendly and mild-mannered retired necktie salesman Wally Slocum, Alan Kostynniuk as fastidious and flirtatious Sidney Fineburg, all residents of the Golden Days Retirement Hotel, which is ruled by the iron hand of an invisible but stern-voiced director, Mr. Stone (Shilo Salzman).

Newcomer Peter Schermann (Udo Mueller), a widower and recent retiree, is aghast when Stone confiscates the portable pharmacy he calls his 'old friends', dismayed that residents must eat their larger meal at noon, and considerably puzzled that the piano is kept locked except for special occasions. A carpenter by trade, he offers unwelcome advice to Larry the handyman (Martin Dion) and manages to filch a screwdriver to unlock the piano.

The scene that follows, when Helene revives her musical talent and the others dip deep into their memory banks to the days of silent movies, is one of the funniest ever to hit the Elk Point Arts and Leisure Centre stage, even if we never find out if the cavalry saves the wagon train, because the booming voice of Mr. Stone brings the frivolity to an abrupt halt.

But all is not lost. One of the letters Stone declared should be written instead of carrying on in an unseemly fashion finally finds its way to the right official and Stone is replaced by Mr. Gettlinger, who returns Schermann's pharmaceuticals, thinks up ways for the residents to enjoy themselves and finally enjoy their golden days.

Prompter Mabel Gottenbos was pressed into service to replace Hudson for last week's performances, and already familiar with the lines, quickly learned her song and a lively dance number, proving that "There's A Little Starch Left," as declared by Sullivan in the same song in the 1985 version.

The Times review suggested that "Even juniors under 60, with or without an adult" could enjoy the play, and this certainly has seemed the case during the first four performances, judging from the laughter at the crew's reaction to Fineburg's purchase of a bicycle, Catlan's jokes and Arias' mambo lessons.

It's another success for the Choral Society and Friends, and their 'old friends' are already eager to see what they'll bring to the stage next year.

OBITUARY

BRUNNER, Joseph Carl

Dec. 30, 1927 - March 17, 2012

Joseph (Joe) Brunner, our beloved husband, friend and father, went to be with his Lord on March 17, 2012 at age 84.

Born on December 30, 1927 in a farmhouse near Hanna, Alberta, Joe lived a full and adventurous life, as a missionary in Trinidad and Tobago, a minister in Red Deer and Three Hills and a rancher and school bus driver in Elk Point, Alberta. He loved people and throughout his life devoted himself selflessly to the good of others. He treasured his wife and family, horses, and memories of his youth on the farm. He enjoyed old time music, painting, writing and history. Generous, warm, kind and respected by many, Joe met life's challenges with humour and courage. He is survived by his wife Sandy of Edmonton, his children Barry (Judi Malone) of St. Paul, Kenton (Sheldina), Laurilee (Vaughn), Shelley (Marilyn), Leland (Lauri), Holly (Marvin), Sheldon (Andrea), 25 grandchildren, 9 great-grandchildren, 5 brothers and 1 sister.

Cremation has taken place. A celebration of Joe's life will be held at West Edmonton Christian Assembly, 6315-199 St. Edmonton on Friday, March 30 at 2 p.m. Gifts to cancer research in Joe's memory are appreciated in lieu of flowers.

Zachary Ference, Logan "Back Checker" Becker and Ryley "Coyote" Wozniak, who started their hockey careers in Elk Point, all played for the Lloydminster Rage Under 16 AAA team this year. The Rage won their league two weeks ago then competed in provincials in Calgary this past weekend, and although they didn't win at provincials, they all had a great year. Rage statistics show Wozniak with 33 goals and 44 assists for the year, Becker with 13 goals and 12 assists and Ference with six goals and eight assists.

Recent polling places the Wildrose neck and neck with the PCs, he said. "Each vote counts and we're pushing our supporters and volunteers to talk to their friends and neighbours to get out as many people as possible. We're very, very close."

NDP candidate Phil Johnson said he's confident in the amount of support the NDP will receive in the election. "We expect to have a strong showing. Many Albertans are looking for a real alternative that supports working families," he said by email. "I'm looking forward to the roll-out of the platform over the next week. I feel that the strength of the platform and the central campaign will be a great benefit to my campaign in the constituency."

"I think the election this spring is going to be interesting. For the first times in 40 years, the province is going to have an election that is going to provide for some options," said County of St. Paul Reeve Steve Upham, prior to the election being announced Monday morning.

"It's going to be very interesting," agreed St. Paul Mayor Glenn Andersen, adding, it will be "probably the most interesting election that I've ever been through," and a potential outcome will be hard to predict.

Budget passed

The government passed its 2012-2013 budget last week. "At the end of the day, this is a great budget and it shows so much promise for the future," said Danyluk. "It is a budget that will have (the province), in two years, back to a $5.2 billion surplus."

Upham and Glenn Andersen feel that for local municipalities, the most important part of the budget is MSI (Municipal Sustainability Initiative) funding. Upham says he is happy that MSI funding increased slightly.

"As long as MSI stays the same or gets better that helps us," said Andersen.

Andersen is concerned he has yet to hear of changes to the police funding structure. The Town of St. Paul is the only municipality that pays for policing in the Lac La Biche - St. Paul - Two Hills constituency, said Andersen, a long time grievance of towns with populations over 5,000.
